SENATOR CROW WINS
OUT FOR SCOTSDALE,*Everson and Mt. Pleasant in Having State Road
Route*CHANGED TO INCLUDE THEM

Fayette Senator's Protest Before Committee Last Night Heeded and New Road Will Pass Through Connecting, Everson, Scottdale and Mt. Pleasant.

Special to The Courier.
HARRISBURG, Mar. 28.—The State Road from the county seat of Fayette to the county seat of Westmoreland county, that is to say from Uniontown to Greensburg, had in its original form passed by Everson and Scottdale.
At a meeting of the Sprout committee last evening, the bill was, upon the insistence of Senator Crow, amended so that the route will be via Connecting, Everson, Scottdale and Mt.
Pleasant.
Senator Crow eloquently protested against the sidetracking of two such important towns as Everson and Scottdale in the construction of a State highway, and his protest was effective.
John S. Carroll, representative from Fayette county, has introduced a bill that would go far to settle any future disputes such as arose over the increased costs levied by some of the western water companies last year.
Furthermore, it would give any company desiring to compete with a gas, electric, or water company the chance to start in business on a level with the rates of such corporations as the Philadelphia Electric Company and the United Gas Improvement Company.
Mr. Carroll's bill stipulates that it shall be within the power of the authorities of any city or community to regulate the charge of any water company, electric light and gas companies.
The bill would be generally effective.
It says that it shall apply to any such company, whether it be a complete monopoly of a city or community or a part of a city or community. It would make it possible for the authorities to arbitrarily fix rates, but admits the right of the affected company to take the matter into court.

Belligerent Bill Calls it "Frameup"

Councilman William McCormick, who became involved in a fistic encounter at the fire department's quarters, earlier in the week, stated today that the fight was a pit-ty job on his part.
"I never went by the fire house that I didn't joke with the men, and I didn't get most of all," McCormick said today. "There was always good feeling between us. Why, I put Gel-gor on the fire department twice. We were always good friends. They had it all framed up against me and I fell right into the trap. I didn't want the fight and I never was the aggressor." McCormick isn't willing to admit any member of the fire department can beat him. He says he didn't want to have a fight with the fire house;
it was no place for a fight, but it was forced on him. He says if any of the firemen really want to fight him, he is willing to meet them at any time.

Had Two Fingers Clipped by Saw

George Harland, aged 35 years, an employee of the McFarland Lumber Company at Indian Creek, was the result of an accident with which he met yesterday afternoon. He had two fingers on his right hand sawed off and another badly torn.
The hand was not injured. He came to Connelville and was admitted to the Cottage State hospital for treatment.

first remonstrance of the year appeared Tuesday, when objections were filed to the granting of a license to Uniontown.

STATE CAPITOL AT ALBANY
PARTLY DESTROYED BY FIRE.*Flames Starting at an Early Hour This Morning Caused $6,000,000 Loss and Burn Priceless Records.

United Press Telegram.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 29.—A fire of $6,000,000 and of priceless records and documents, the suspension of State business and the probable loss of one life, was the not result of a fire starting in the Assembly Library at the State capitol early today, ruining the entire western portion of the $25,000,000 structure.
Samuel Abbott, night watchman, insisting that he believed to have lost his life in the flames, was found
The State library of 100,000 volumes was destroyed. No insurance was carried on the building or its contents. All the old Dutch and English Colonial records were also destroyed.
Effective electric wiring is believed to have caused the blaze.
The disaster will not interfere with the vote for United States Senator.
Sessions will be held in the Albany City Hall until the Senate and Assembly chambers can be repaired.
The fire was still smoldering at 11 A. M. but was under control.

Peace Outlook Better in Mexico

United Press Telegram.
SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 29.—It was unofficially stated today that on the arrival of Ambassador De La Barri, the newly appointed Minister of Foreign Affairs, here, tomorrow, he will be joined by Francisco I. Madero, Jr. and Alfonso Madero and the three will then proceed to Monterrey, Mexico, where they will meet Minister of Finance Lemaur and a party of peace commissioners.
From there they will proceed to the city of Chihuahua in the State of Chihuahua, in the center of the insurrect territory, where peace negotiations will be entered into.
Francisco I. Madero, Jr., the rebel leader, will leave his army in the hills around Chihuahua and under a flag of truce will enter the city and proceed to the peace meeting.
It is believed the peace negotiations will be formal, both the Diaz administration and the Maderistas having already decided the terms upon which the pact will be signed.

EL PASO, Tex., March 29.—(Special).—In spite of the reported peace negotiations between the Diaz government and the insurrection, couriers arriving from Chihuahua City today declare that reinforcements of 1,100 federal soldiers have arrived there and more warlike preparations than ever are under way.
Federal officials in Juarez are alarmed over the defections of their city. There are only 500 federal soldiers there now.

Two Cases Tried
in Civil Court

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Mar. 29.—Two cases were tried this morning in civil court.
Before Judge Van Swearingen the case of slander brought by Ludwig Inde against George Kelly was taken up.
Both men came from Snook. Inde alleges that Kelly circulated the report that he ran away with the funds of a beneficial union. Testimony was brought out to show that Inde was never an officer of the union and could not have taken the funds. Inde asks $1,000 damages.
Before Judge Umbel the suit of Es-ma L. Hayden against David Friedberg and H. D. Leonard, trustee in bankrup-cy of L. T. Hayden was started. A year ago Friedberg took over Hayden's furniture store in Uniontown and agreed to pay a certain percentage on the inventory to creditors. The inventory fell about $1,500 short and Mrs.
Hayden paid $1,000 cash when Friedberg took over the store. It develops Mrs. Hayden had a separate estate and who is suing to recover the money she paid.

Many Witnesses
to Give Testimony

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, March 29.—One hundred and fifty witnesses, most of them survivors of the disastrous fire in the Triangle Shirt Waist factory Saturday afternoon gave affidavit testimony in the office of District Attorney Whitman today.
Everyone of the witnesses agreed that the doors which lead to the stairways and the passenger elevators were locked.
It has been decided to postpone the trial of the unidentified victims of the fire until next week.
There are 20 unidentified bodies in the morgue today. The missing list contains the names of only 15, so that it is not likely that many of the bodies remaining will ever be claimed by relatives.

Are Building Sewer.
Work was started this week on a 12-inch sewer under Mount Creek to relieve the residents of North Pittsburg street from sewage troubles that have been objectionable for some time past. This sewer takes the place of a 4-inch pipe which proved too small.

ROTH RAPS LEVY;
FINE FOR ROTH.*Story of Fistic Encounter in Store Told in Police Court.*SPECIAL SALESMAN'S VERSION

And That of Merchant Levy Didn't Coincide So Burgess Evans Told the Salesman a Fistic Spot—Battery Case Was Also Settled.

There was a dissolution of agreement this morning between S. M. Levy, a West Main street merchant, and N.
Roth, who says his home is in Chicago,
but who has made his headquarters in Pittsburgh for the last four years.
The dissolution followed a fistic encounter in the rear of the store last evening, which came to an end with the appearance of Officer William Stoner. The story was unfolded in police court this morning before Burgess Evans. Roth was the defendant and was "questioned first." He deposed as follows:
"I come here from Pittsburgh. Mr.
Burgess, I promote a sales campaign for this Mr. Levy. You know I promote these sales all over the country.
Here is a letter from the last successful sale I conducted in Pittsburgh. Already I have brought in $500 worth of business for this man but he thinks I must stay in the store all the time.
Now you know, Mr. Burgess, you can't have a successful sale unless you advertise. There is one paper in this town. They call it The Courier. I can prove it by the business manager that you must get your advertisement in two and three days before it is run, you see. Now I have to get out to get this advertisement in. I was out yesterday afternoon. I had a couple of drinks when I came back and this Mr. Roth was out of his mind. He called me, Mr. Burgess. He talked to me like I shall be an ignoramus.
Mr. Burgess, I am an ignoramus.
I know my rights. I started to tell him what my contract shall have consideration for when he grabbed me by the collar. I don't know what shall have happened after that."
S. M. Levy, being called, deposed that N. Roth, the defendant, was out of the store from 7:30 yesterday morning until after 7 o'clock last evening.
When he came in Mr. Roth asked Mr.
Roth whether his contract said he should drink all the time the sale is going on. There were words and N.
Roth hit Mr. Levy on the cheek. The two grappled, the boy ran for a policeman and the incident ended. Burgess Evans, fined Roth $5, which he paid.
Then Constable J. W. Mitchell arrested Roth on a warrant charging assault and battery. This case was settled by the payment of the costs. A friend of Roth's, also interested in the sale, that has already produced $800, asked Burgess Evans for law to get salary he claimed was owing to him but he later dropped out of the incident, which was now closed.

FIRE EQUIPMENT
IN CITY POOR.*Department Has Inefficient
Apparatus to Get Good Results.*MEN HAVE DONE SPLENDIDLY

In Checking Fires That Have Started, But the Loss Could Be Lessened If Some Reforms Were Introduced, Business Men Think.

As a consequence of the alarming number of fires that have occurred in Connellsville since the first of the year, and particularly during the present month, business men are agitating more stringent regulations and better fire fighting appliances. In all the fires the paid department has acquitted itself splendidly. The appliances with which it is furnished are of the most simple order. The most approved equipment is the chemical apparatus on the fire wagon. Aside from this the department is really little better off than in the days before its organization. Some hose and a good supply of water are the weapons with which the firemen are supposed to combat the flames when they get past the stage where chemicals might be of service.

Those who know something about fire fighting declare that two things are badly needed—smoke helmets and a hook and ladder wagon of such size that they can reach the top of the tallest buildings. The absence of sufficient ladders, especially one fitted with a truck for instantaneous action, is a common complaint in the report of the fire underwriters. Need of smoke helmets, if only two of them, was strikingly demonstrated in the fires of E. U. Hotel and M. M. Feld-stein & Company. In each instance blinding, suffocating smoke drove the firemen back and rendered them almost powerless to do anything but stream of water into the basement, trusting to luck that it reached the flames. With two smoke helmets, firemen so equipped could have forced their way through the smoke in safety, ascertained the location of the blaze and directed a stream to the proper portion of the building. It would be of even greater value to have a smoke helmet for every member of the paid department, but even two would be of great value.

The need of more hose was pointed out in the report of the fire insurance underwriters. The number of fires lately has been such that the department has not had time to properly dry the hose it now has on hand.
That Connelville has not suffered greater losses from fire is largely due to the efficiency of the fire fighters.
The firemen, of the paid force and the volunteers, have shown themselves brave and willing workers, and their battles against the flames have been waged with intelligence. Until smoke alarms are supplied it is to be expected that the loss from water will be severe when fires are located in inaccessible basements and cluttered up cellars. The most serious menace to Connelville is in the high winds which are so prevalent. These winds spread fires very rapidly and only superbulous efforts of the fire fighters have prevented wholesale destruction from flames. The winds that prevail are of such a serious nature that they should be reckoned with while providing fire protection.

Business men, and particularly owners of property in the downtown district, are agitating another feature of fire protection—the fire prevention.
It is almost certain that when this becomes a third class city, and perhaps before that time, Council will be urged to provide more adequate building laws and regulations than now exist. An ordinance is wanted that will enable a properly accredited official to com-pulsorily remove and keep in their premises, sanitary and free from accumulated rubbish.

"I venture to say that if an inspection of the cellar of business houses along Main and Pittsburgh streets could be made this morning," said a business man today, "the conditions revealed would be startling. I believe some merchants do not clean up their basements often than once a year."

Judging from the revelations of some impromptu investigations lately the statement can probably be confirmed. The condition of the basement under Goldstein's, where Monday night's fire occurred, was subject to constant criticism on the part of the Chief of W. Mitchell, who said the basement was not only filled with inflammable material, but the stuff was piled about in such a manner that the firemen could not make their way over it without risking their lives and limbs under a Pittsburgh street apartment and business block, the other day, a condition generally as bad was revealed.

FATHER AVENGES GIRL
DUPED BY A DOCTOR.*Oakland, Cal., Police Refuse to Arrest Physician and Maddened Parent Gets Vengeance.

United Press Telegram.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Half an hour after the police had refused to arrest Dr. E. A. Byron on a charge of having "hypnotized" Ethel Patrick, aged 18, and having had her a prisoner in his rooms, James E. Patrick, the girl's father, walked into the Oakland police station, laid a bloody knife upon the sergeant's desk and cried out: "I killed him with this."
Late that night Patrick and his wife located their daughter in Byron's apartment. They demanded his arrest. The police refused to take action on the grounds that there was not sufficient evidence.
Patrick went directly from the police station to Byron's apartment and found his daughter there, a physical wreck as the result of drugs Byron had administered. It is alleged he forced open the door to a closet where Byron had hidden himself, dragged the physician out into the room and before the eyes of the girl who had been ruined, stabbed him to death. Patrick turned the girl over to the mother's care and then gave himself up.

MANY WEST SIDE
HOMES ARE SOLD.*John Duggan is Most Extensive Purchaser of Railroad Dwellings.*ARE ALREADY BEING MOVED

Three Dwellings Will Be Moved to Sixth Street, Others to Seventh and Eighth, While Some Will Be Torn Down.

ing Contractor Adam Deemer of Uniontown put the blocks under two dwellings, those that were owned by Councilman W. H. Thomson and Sandy McNeal. The contracts for the sale of the dwellings stipulate that they must be moved within 30 days. Practically all of the houses have been sold, three remaining. Only three double houses, four single houses, some outbuildings and fences. P. E.

the successful bidders. Others who bid but were not successful may have their checks returned by calling at the Citizens National Bank.

Lacto's Big Foot
Broke 48 Eggs

For breaking four dozen of eggs Antonio Lacto of the West Side, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Constable William Shrum of the West Side, and was given a hearing last evening before Squire P. M. Buttermore of the West Side.
The information was made by T. W.
Morrison. On Monday the prosecutor purchased four dozen of eggs and while in a West Side hotel he alleged that the defendant stepped in the basket containing the eggs, breaking all of the four dozen. The case was settled by the defendant paying for the eggs and the costs.

PLANS EXPANSION.*Sixth Floor of Second National Bank Secured for

There Will Be Nine Display Windows
Instead of Two and Outside Entrance to Basement—C. E. Curtiss in Charge of Carpet Room.

The prospects for improved business conditions in Connelville during the coming summer which has resulted in greater activity among the business men here than ever before has spread has found it necessary to expand along broader lines in order to take care of the rapidly increasing volume of business. And at the same time enlarge its present line until, when the present plans are completed, it will have the largest department store in Fayette county. The plans which have been decided upon include the remodeling of the present front of the building, rearrangement of the interior of the main floor, and the leasing of the west wing of the sixth floor of the First National Bank Building, the basement, first and second floors of which it now occupies.

The plans for the new front are now in the hands of contractors for bids but the work will not be started until after the spring rush is over, probably in June. By April 15 it is expected the sixth floor of the west wing of the sixth floor and window coverings. C. E. Curtiss, for 16 years with the J. M. Greig Company of Corning, N. Y., the largest department store of that city. Tonight Mr. Curtiss, with W. E. Sharps, manager of the carpet department of the Uniontown store of the Wright-Metzler Company, leave for New York to order a complete line of carpets, rugs, oilcloths, linoleums, matting, lace curtains, portiers, draperies and upholstery. There are about 4,000 square feet of floor space on the sixth floor, which will afford the best lighted and arranged carpet room in the county.

In order to reach the top floor of the building and the second floor as well, doors will be cut through to the elevator in the rear of the building which was installed with a view to the present requirements. On the first floor the doorway was originally provided and only the plastering need be removed.

Several changes will be made to the front of the store. The present stoop leading to the basement will be taken out and a new entrance made from the outside. The front will be moved back eight feet, affording space for narrow show windows besides 15 feet of narrow display casing around the stairway. There will be two entrances to the store instead of one as at present.
The rearrangement of the showwin-ers will afford better opportunities for artistic window trimming than is possible at present.

The Wright-Metzler Company began business here seven years ago. Three years later after the prosperity of the company was assured by the purchase of the store was opened with slightly more floor space than in Connelville at present. The Connelville store has outgrown its present quarters. Since the store was opened the business has more than tripled and the working force more than doubled.

Fifteen Children
Saved J. Minerd

The store's frequent visits to the home of James Minerd at Crossland station saved James $3.50 in police costs this morning. There isn't any race suicide in the Minerd home because there are 15 Miners besides the two parents.

When Minerd was arraigned this morning for being drunk he gave his age as 45 years and the number of children 15. In view of this Roose-veltian record Burgess Evans declined to impose any sentence save to warn James to pay closer attention to the kiddies and less to the Book bear signs that will make their appearance soon.

Final Advertisement of the Aaron Store's Remarkable ANNIVERSARY SALE

Reduced Prices Not Effective After this Week.

It has been the most remarkable Anniversary Sale we have ever had or heard of. People from all parts of Western Pennsylvania have bought heavily since the very first day of the sale. Words cannot describe the feeling of satisfaction it has given us to see how implicitly our published announcements are believed by everybody. And the very knowledge of this confidence has made us doubly careful to say nothing which we could not "make good."

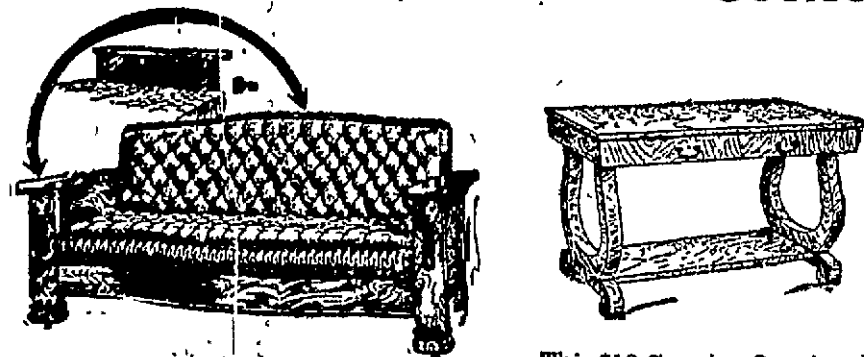

So far as we are concerned we believe this advertisement is not necessary. We believe the store would have been crowded during the remaining days of the sale without further publicity. But we print it as a final reminder to everybody who has been intending to profit by our sale who might possibly put off too long. We are grateful through and through for the way you have treated us and we won't forget it.

WEDNESDAY EVE'G, MAR. 29, 1911

GOVERNMENT BY AUTOCRACY AND BY THE PEOPLE.

The Pittsburgh Plan of City Government, which we are just now hearing so much about, may be a change for the better, but we sincerely doubt it. If, however, the cities affected want to try it, that is all right. It is not for other people to butt in with protest or perhaps with advice.

Nevertheless, with due respect to the intelligent judgment of the Pittsburgh politicians and people, and with no thought of criticizing the same, but only with a view to considering and discussing a question which may yet come from the forks of the Ohio to the mouth of Mounts Creek, we feel free to say that the assumption that honest government is necessarily confined to the law is a mere fiction, a rash promise which will never run to a safe and sane conclusion.

The whole plan presumes that the people will select none but intelligent and honest men to govern them when they elect the smaller body proposed. The conclusion is not at all logical. It is sometimes easier for evil influences to elect a few men to office than to elect many. It certainly costs less.

Government by Commission, which is only another name for Government by Autocracy, is in direct opposition to Government by the People. This new political bid is in serious conflict with the principle for which the Revolution was fought.

While it is possible that a smaller body of Commissioners would govern the cities better, and the experiment may be worth trying, we doubt the wisdom of departing in any serious measure from that system of popular representation upon which the Constitution of State and Nation are founded.

THE TROUBLES OF
THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

It is evident that Connelville is deficient in fire-fighting equipment and that this deficiency should be supplied as soon as the finances of the borough will warrant the expenditure.

The fact was first revealed by the report of the expert agent of the underwriters' association and it is now confirmed by private investigations. The fire fighting implements of Connelville have not grown with the growth of the town or the height of its business buildings.

The Connelville fire department must have taller and wider equipment.

Habit is a powerful influence, and perhaps the South Connelville minister who argued with the court should have been too severely dealt with. He has for many years been arguing religion from the pulpit and it was natural for him to defend his rather defenseless position. He should have been sent away under supervision of sentence, with the distinct understanding that he is a preacher and not a practitioner, and that any further attempt on his part to perform surgical operations would be severely dealt with. While he no doubt meant well, he did not mean to be permitted to overstep the boundaries of his business again.

Mexico is being watched as well in the interest of military peace as in the interest of industrial peace.

The Western Maryland system is after the Hokeys business too.

The Senatorial representative of Fayette county in the State Legislature seems to be a politician of the county's share of the good things that crop out on the hill. That is the kind of Senator that is needed to represent Fayette without works in deers.

An automobile fire engine might be a fine thing for Connelville, but when it refuses to work it will be different. While we are growing some, let us not be too ambitious, but let us cut our expenditures to the measure of our income, and not get too sportive.

Runaway boys need wooden sleds.

Big feet should not attempt the delicate feat of walking on eggs.

Cumberland still grabs the martial money.

Scolded heads are somewhat rare up over the prospects of this coming poultry show.

The Democratic lambs of Greene county will be shorn of their tariff protection by a Democratic House at Washington as far as the Democratic House is able to shear. The Democracy of Greene county is becoming as much involved in coal and wool that we think we too its final.

McKeesport has engaged Billy Sunday. The people down that way want excitement. The nickelodeons have pulled upon them.

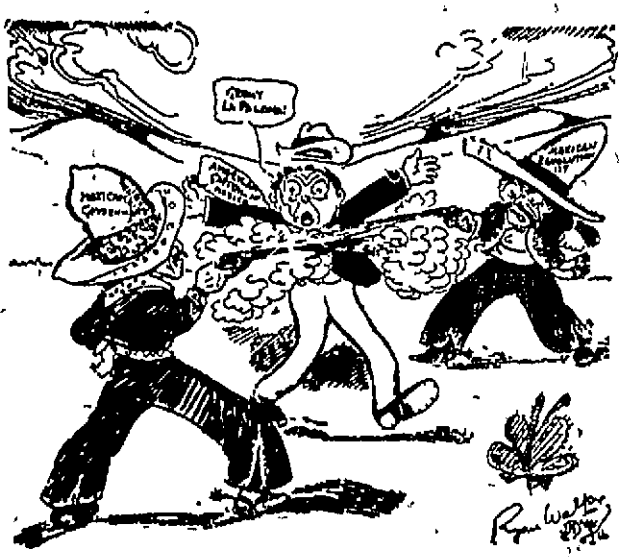

Hawkeye has turned a headful ear to the plea of plague-stricken China. Hawkeye's heart is in the biggest part about her.

The Weather Man is handing it out rather meanly to the rheumatics.

Kentucky is engaged in the business of reforming its politics by the use of protest against buying the voters and it should end with protest against snatching the candidates.

The Connelville dog quarantine will be revised and renewed.

The Alaska coal frauds will not down. Their latitude is too high up.

UNCOMFORTABLE POSITION FOR THE THIRD PARTY.

Coal had been thrown into the cellar until it was bunched around the steam heating plant, a splendid combination to cause spontaneous combustion. On the other side the ashes were piled equally high, with stove boxes and other rubbish consuming so much of the remaining space that those who inspected the place wondered how the janitor ever found room in which to fire the furnace. These are but a few instances. The rear of stores often present another splendid fire trap with wooden boxes, excelsior and other inflammable refuse piled about.

The building regulations are lax. Although there has long been a Building Commission connected with Town Council it has never distinguished itself by undo activity. This is largely due to the lax building ordinances, which are confined to a single fire limit law which the insurance underwriters declare is wholly inadequate. Business men who have talked on the subject advance the conviction that there should be rigid supervision of new buildings, additions and repairs that are put up within the fire limits. The general sentiment is that Connelville since the first of the year has received an object lesson from which it should profit. Certainly it is there is little chance of securing lower fire insurance rates until steps are taken to not only protect property from fire damage but to prevent fires as far as it is within human power to do so. Summed up, the business men ask these things:

1. Better home for the fire department. 2. Block and ladder wagon of approved type. 3. Appointment of sanitary and building inspectors. 4. Enactment of more rigid building ordinances. 5. Legislation to prevent maintenance of fire traps.

BOY RUNS AWAY.

Oliver Led Caught in Unlabeled on Way to Connelville.

William Coughenour, the 11 year old son of Henry Coughenour, the Oliver, was intercepted in Unlabeled yesterday by Assistant Chief of Police Robert Reese after he had run away from home and started for Connelville. The lad was taken to the police station and later accompanied his father home under protest. He claims that his step-mother is cruel to him and says he won't remain unless they tie him.

The boy stated that he was on his way to Connelville to visit Mrs. Means, a relative. Coughenour denies that the boy is cruelly treated and says he is whipped only when he needs punishment.

Congregational Meeting. The annual congregational meeting of the United Presbyterian church will be held in the church this evening at 7:51 o'clock.

DEATHS.

An Infant. Marie Lukia DeGallo, aged 11 months and 2 days, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paganini DeGallo died yesterday morning of convulsions at the family residence on North Arch street. Services were held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Italian church. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mrs. Gelin's Funeral. Largely attended was the funeral of the late Mrs. Tabitha Gelin which took place yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late home on North Pittsburgh street. Rev. R. C. Wolf, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. The floral tributes were very pretty. Interment in Hill Grove cemetery.

Funeral of Mrs. R. B. Stillwagon. The funeral of Mrs. Russell B. Stillwagon will take place from her late home on Davidson avenue Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and from the Trinity Episcopal church in the West side of town at 2 o'clock. Rev. Richard Kern, the pastor, will officiate. Interment private in Chestnut Hill cemetery.

The funeral of Victor Detweiler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Detweiler, Sr., of Murphy's Bling, took place from his late home yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and from the Mt. Olive church at 2 o'clock. Rev. Kern officiated. The services were attended by a large gathering of friends and relatives of the deceased. The floral tributes were unusually pretty, and pallbearers were Walter, Herbert and Ralph Detweiler, Ralph Brooks, I. Gray and Harvey Fetting. Interment in Mt. Olive cemetery.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, March 29.—By a special effort another Y. M. C. A. Mining Institute will be held in Scottdale before the examination is given next week for those ambitious ones who wish to obtain, if possible, certificates to enable them to hold the important positions of mine foreman or fire bosses in the Blountsville region. President D. K. Blower of Scottdale, a State Mine Inspector, who will be at the head of the examination in his district which will be held in the Odd Fellows hall, Elmer & Craft buildings, April 4, 5, 6 and 7, said that the interest has been so great that it was thought advisable to hold an institute on Saturday evening, April 1. The men interested in mining are all welcomed to this meeting, whether they are residents of the district or not. The lecture of the evening will be on "Ventilation" and will be the second of a series of three minute lectures written by Dr. W. R. Crane, Dean of the School of Mines of Pennsylvania State College, who gave such an interesting illustrated lecture on Saturday evening, April 1. The meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, which have been used for most of the meetings. Secretary W. J. Grief has been in communication with Secretary T. B. Ditts, of Greensburg, in charge of the Blountsville committee of the Y. M. C. A. and the latter may be present that evening. A question box will follow the institute.

So much interest has been taken in these institutes that President Blower says they will probably last well into warm weather, and in fact as long as the mining men want them to continue.

Communion Services.
Communion services will be held in the United Evangelical church, corner Arthur avenue and Grove street, Rev. H. R. Reese, pastor. Rev. N. M. ## Goddess of Liberty Pleased Big House

A large audience laughed its way through the "Goddess of Liberty" last evening and seemed to enjoy it. The company was capable, with a comely, well drilled chorus larger than choruses here have been this year. The solo principals carried off the first honors of the production although Violet Stanton received a large share of the applause. The evening's honors were with Robert H. Wilson and Johnny Fogarty. Why Fogarty isn't kept on the stage longer during the three acts is a puzzle. He was certainly one of the hits of the show.

The "Goddess of Liberty" carried a handicap in its first act. There was no cause for complaint after that. The scenic effects were remarkably clever. Between Fogarty and Wilson some clever jokes were negotiated during the evening. The press agent's claim that the show is a "musical comedy without a blush" didn't exactly hold good because the dialogue was rather rough in spots.

The music was a disappointment. The only real song hit of the evening was "If All Moons Were Honeycombs." The other music reminds one of "The Time, The Place and The Girl." In fact, one of Wilson's numbers was a song from that play with only the words rewritten. The play made a hit despite carrying weight for age among the feminine members of the cast.

HOME SEEKERS AT SCOTSDALE.

Acres May Now Be Obtained on Recently Plotted Suburb.

ENGINEER HOGG PLANS THE STREETS OF ONE HUNDRED ACRES RECENTLY BOUGHT BY J. A. STAUFFER AND ASSO- CIATES FOR NEW MILL SITE.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, March 29.—Those who want to acquire acreages in the new suburb of Scottdale, which will connect with East Home Place, and which has been formally christened North Scottdale will now have an opportunity to inspect the new town. Engineer J. B. Hogg has laid out the 100 acres of the Overholt farm on the West Overton road into a town, and assurances is had that his method of laying an entire town out at once instead of doing it lot by lot in haphazard fashion as so often is the case will by use to make this a model community.

J. A. Stauffer of Scottdale, who is at the head of the new project, which embraces the early building of a big steel rail re-rolling mill, for which the charter has been applied for, announced yesterday to a Courier reporter that anyone who desires to buy will now have an opportunity of doing so. The selection of lots or acreages will be desirable at this time, and buyers will be accompanied with a half acre, one acre, two or three or up to five acres if they desire, and have choice of the best location on the streets of the perfectly laying tract.

The streets have all been run, with the greatest regard to natural sewerage and other desirable features, and proves an attractive site for anyone who wants a place that will increase rapidly in value. Chicken farmers, truck gardeners, or small fruit growers would doubtless find the location an ideal one, and its opening up is the most important event in local real estate doing in this vicinity this spring.

ESCAPE FROM FIRE.

The Big Goodman Clothing Store Not Touched by Flames.

Had the flames which threatened the Newcomer block on Monday evening, reached the big Goodman clothing store another loss of forty or fifty thousand dollars would have been the result. As it was this splendid stock of goods was only slightly damaged by smoke, no water or fire. At that Mr. Goodman will find it necessary to sacrifice his fine line of clothing, cutting, his prices to a matter of cost and less. His loss will be great because of the fact that his store was filled with a new line of goods including such celebrated makers as the "L" System, Collegian, Schloss Bros., Horse Shoe Brand and other celebrated makes of clothing.

While smoke does not damage clothing to any extent, the public does not look at it in that way and naturally expect a big reduction when it comes time to put it on sale. Mr. Goodman expects the insurance companies to adjust his loss in a few days and immediately thereafter will open with a sale with clothing and furnishings cut to such small figures that only a short time will be required to dispose of the big stock.

TWO MEN FROZEN

To Death, One in Cambria and One in Somerset County.

JOHNSTOWN, March 29.—Two cases of freezing to death, the first in this region this year, were reported yesterday, one at Spangler and the other at Roswell. One victim of the cold weather was John Gibson, aged 60, of Patton. He spent the greater part of yesterday in Spangler, starting to walk home early in the evening, his body was found at 6 o'clock in the morning.

The other victim was Roy E. Riddle, aged 57, of Roswell, Somerset county, who dropped unconscious when but a few rods from the shanty in which he lived. His body was found this morning.

Hurt in Runaway.
Thomas Stewart, aged about 70, a driver for Mr. M. From the Scottdale butcher, while driving to his home in North Scottdale for dinner yesterday was seriously injured in a runaway accident. The horse reared at a dinky and threw Stewart out, injuring him dangerously. He has been out of his mind since being hurt.

Caution about the Use and Selection of Spectacles
Persons having normal vision will be able to read this small line of type from the eye with ease and comfort. Persons who are unable to read this line of type are suffering from defective vision and should have immediate attention. When the eyes become tired from reading or writing, or the letters look blurred and run together, it is a sure indication that glasses are needed. The eyes and the cheap goods are of limited durability and have frequently caused serious trouble. Continued use of them will result in positive injury from the constant strain upon the muscles of accommodation to supply the defects in the eyes.

Working in Great Numbers.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, March 29.—The Scottdale Poultry and Pet Stock Association are now considering the incorporation of the association, but thus far nothing has been done in the matter and it may be allowed to drop. The association is very active and expects to hold one of their regular meetings in the office of Justice of the Peace J. C. Stelhar, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The most important feature of the work at the present time is the preparations for the annual show, although it is nearly a year away. The association will have their next show, the second annual one, during the first week in December, and expect a show that will far surpass the one held last year, as they have begun work on the plans for it already.

The selection of a judge is always an important matter and the association has appointed a committee consisting of A. Hawthorne, Joseph M. Stelhar and Frank Glas to arrange for securing a judge. A number of the most prominent poultry judges in the country are now under consideration and a selection of some will be made and correspondence opened up with them to find their open dates next year.

The poultry fever is raging with great virulence in Scottdale and some fine pens are owned here. The people are much interested in the wooden hens and these machines are being set all about this community while their owners are discussing with each other their hopes and fears for the hatch. "Old clucks," as the real flesh and blood hens are called to distinguish them from the more modern, but air born, built of wood, are much in demand. Joe Stelhar has been looking for some "old clucks" for several days, as he has some small sets of eggs that he wants a hen to get busy with.

A Romance Of Drussenland

CHAPTER XIX.

THIS two hours the camp was struck. The count and I sat as the forces were about to move.

"I have only just heard of your return," Sir Verrall, I congratulate you."

"I thanked him."

"Is it by your advice that we move the camp tonight?" he asked.

"No. I had no idea such a movement was contemplated. You would have had a free hand, count, had you not brought her highness upon this expedition."

"I made a mistake," he answered.

"A grave one, count. You must have a care that it does not lead you to destruction."

"You speak in riddles, Sir Verrall."

"Not such deep ones but that you can read them," I answered. "Indeed, it is a warning that I give rather than a riddle I ask. Your friends may be many, Count Vascia, but you have many enemies too."

"One stands before me," he said quickly.

"It is well to know how we stand toward each other, Count Vascia. I always watch my enemies."

"And I always crush mine, Sir Verrall, sooner or later. You may yet regret that you have stayed yourself my enemy."

"I come but recently from Yadsara, count. I heard enough to make me glad that I am not your friend."

"You choose a coward's time to speak your insults—a time when it is impossible for me to punish you."

"The time will come, count."

"It shall come," he hissed.

He turned from me and disappeared in the darkness.

I was as far as ever from discovering how matters the count's plans were. I judged that the hurried move of the camp did not suit his schemes altogether, but that it would have the effect of frustrating them. I doubted. He would not have ventured upon such treachery had he not every prospect of success, and my hopes grew weaker as the main body and the right wing moved forward. If they were all traitors what hope was there? Sir Vascia thoroughly trusted the left wing, and I was more inclined to think that he did so justly when I saw the pleasure of the men at the fact that the princess was to ride among them. They welcomed me too.

It was a difficult night march. Under ordinary circumstances it would have been a foolish one. The woods were thick and the paths through them narrow. The men were forced in places to struggle and push forward in two and three files. The princess, men that in case of attack they were to fall back and surround the princess. Her protection was to be their especial care. This arranged, Sir Vascia took command, keeping as close to the main body as possible, while Jasar and I rode on either side of the princess. Jasar was mounted on a strong animal, and I saw a sword hilt peep from under his cloak.

The stumbling of Jasar's horse startled me.

"Hear you anything besides the tramp of our men, Sir Verrall?" he asked.

"No. Where?"

"To our right. Listen!"

I pulled up my horse. So did Daria. I could hear the steady tramp of our own men around us, but there was another sound away to our right, a faint echoing tramp.

"An echo, I think."

"It shall come," he hissed.

He turned from me and disappeared in the darkness.

I pulled up my horse. So did Daria. I could hear the steady tramp of our own men around us, but there was another sound away to our right, a faint echoing tramp.

"An echo, I think."

And then, as if in contradiction, there came a clear sound, the clang of harness, faint but clear, as when in a company of horsemen several of the soldiers throw their heads up at the same time and shake their bridles.

"That cannot be an echo."

We rode on again, and overtaking a knight, I told him to hurry forward and tell Sir Vascia that I believed the enemy were marching with us through the woods. Presently the knight I had sent forward returned. Sir Vascia had instructed the men to go slowly and to keep well together, and he wanted me to make sure that I had plenty of men behind me to repulse any attack which might be made in the rear. Leaving the princess in Jasar's charge, I rode back and got the rear portion of the left wing close up. With an effort I spoke easily to the men, and I was convinced now that they were to be trusted. Then I rejoined Daria and Jasar.

"It would be well to send forward to the count and call a halt," I said. "We are approaching open country, and we cannot tell what awaits us there."

"Act as you think best," Daria answered.

I sent forward to Vascia. The troops halted immediately, and a few minutes afterward Vascia himself joined us.

"A perilous journey, your highness, but well accomplished," he said. "After a short halt shall we move forward and camp in the open?" Our vanguard is now at the edge of the woods."

"The open country may bring us in sight of the enemy, Sir Vascia," she said.

"Your highness will remember that it was not my wish to advance to-night. It too, think it probable that

"Disobedience is the mark of a rebel, Count Vascia. Look to it or we shall be in danger of misjudging you. Do you only now discover that the enemy are before us? You have a poor knowledge of this campaign, it seems. The main body will advance at once into the open. The woods sweep round to right and left in a semicircle. The enemy are hidden there awaiting us. Your mission is to draw them from their hiding place." Then, turning to a knight with us, who went on: "Go to the right wing and command them to advance through the woods and attack the enemy in the rear on that side. There are half a dozen warriors among us. We shall know how to deal with rebels. For Drussenland and for your princess, forward!"

I half expected the count to refuse, but he did not do so. Either he was uncertain of himself or the plans for success were so complete that the manner of attack was of little importance.

He gave a quick word of command, and as the troops moved we rode back and with the left wing set out to attack the enemy on that side.

There was a distant shout, and a slight arrow fell among the trees. "It is a stray shaft should land a weak spot in Vascia's harness, all might be well yet," I said to Vascia.

"It is not likely to run much risk," he answered.

"You are convinced now, then?"

"Yes, Verrall. It will go hard with us, I think, but at least we'll make history today. We shall have the enemy and the traitors before us, and we'll fight as we fought at the bridge. Traitors are mostly cowards, and they shall pay a dear reckoning."

Homestead came from the woods on either side, and the battle in the open became general.

"Those men fight like fiends," she said. "The treachery is not so deeply rooted as you supposed, Sir Verrall."

"A few men's lives are nothing to those who conceived the treachery," said Jasar.

"The greater the confusion under the more safety for us," I said to Vascia.

"Our turn will come. We have only to wait," he answered.

With him I arranged what knights were to keep with the princess. "She will want you with her," he said.

"When the time comes I ride side by side with you," I answered.

"I am glad," he returned.

We had not long to wait. From the woods opposite a large body of horsemen came slowly. I expected to see them charge into the thick of the fight, but instead they suddenly made a wide sweep and came toward us.

Our archers sent one flight of arrows among them, and then we charged.

Powerful as the enemy before us were, they could not withstand our charge. We cut into them, sweeping them back in confusion. The same spirit was in us all. No quarter was asked for nor given, and many a rider, friend and foe, lay with limbs outstretched, his day's work and his life's work over. We turned and swept back again to the foot of the rising ground on which Daria stood with the company especially reserved to defend her. They greeted us with a cheer, and we shouted answer. It sounded like a cry of victory.

"They were driven back upon the main body," Sir Verrall. The face of the battle is changing."

Walen pointed with his sword. The fight which had begun fiercely was lessening. Our two enemies and our own were beginning to understand one another.

"We have shown them the men they have to reckon with," I answered.

Some show of fighting was still maintained in front of us, and our archers sent quick flights of arrows into the mass. They were all enemies there, though they were to have us strike us yet. Then a mass of horsemen came toward us at a hand gallop.

"Does Vascia lead them?" I asked.

"I cannot see him," Vascia answered. "You must live until later in the day to pay your debt to him."

"No. He is to die!" I answered as we charged again.

I felt that I spoke the truth. It was a fiercer struggle than the first. Twice I was nearly thrown from my saddle, once, for a few moments, losing all consciousness of my surroundings and striking madly about me as a man might do in a nightmare. It was fortunate for me that my horse kept his legs. It was Vascia's voice that brought me back to consciousness.

"Not too far, Verrall. They are surrounding us."

Mechanically almost I swung my horse round, and we began to fight our way back. Vascia's warning opened my eyes to the danger, and the press of the enemy, who had closed to behind us as we had fought our way through the mass in front, told me that they had outmaneuvered us. Even now we were too late. There was a triumphant shout as another body of horsemen went by our struggling mass and rode straight for the rising ground. What could that little company do against such an overpowering enemy?

"For the princess!" I shouted, rising in my stirrups and swinging my sword with the renewed strength despair gave me. "Back to the princess, every one of us! We'll leave our bodies there, not here."

"For the princess!" some one shouted, and we dashed forward.

It was no small body of horsemen that turned to prevent us cutting our way to our comrades, but at least five to one.

"For the princess!" we shouted answer.

And from many it was a lying shout. This was only the beginning of their reason. They were bent on being as false to the king presently as they had already been to the princess.

Side by side Vascia and I went, inch by inch lighting our way toward the rising ground, encouraging each other, helping each other. How our companions fared I know not. Vascia and I seemed to be alone in the midst of enemies. Still we went on step by step. There seemed no power strong enough to stop us. Success seemed certain when suddenly I was alone. A rush of horsemen parted us, and I saw my comrades carried away from me, hard beat. Still the fight was not lost. I shouted to him, and he heard me. I saw the horseman nearest to him go down as he turned, fighting his way back to me, and I pressed my horse forward to meet him. And we succeeded. We did meet, but at what a cost! Even as I shouted in triumph a sword flashed above him and fell, splitting through his armor near the neck.

"The princess!" he cried once, loudly as in full health, and then he pitched forward from his saddle and lay all most under my horse's hoofs.

I cut down the man who struck the blow, and my horse stumbling, I came to the ground, falling across the bodies of my friend and his foe.

It was as if I had been struck by a lightning bolt, and then I pitched forward from my horse's hoofs.

"I'll Meet You in Paris"

That's what a man in Connellsville said the other day when he bade good bye to a friend from Greensburg. It's not the only man in Connellsville who could say the same thing, judging by the number who have already made arrangements, through the Foreign Department of The First National Bank of Connellsville, for a trip to Europe this summer.

The bank is direct agent for a number of Personally Conducted Foreign tours, covering England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, France, Italy, etc. The tours are in charge of experts. ## DR. WASHINGTON'S ASSAILANT WILL SOON BE BROUGHT TO TRIAL.

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—The attack on Dr. William C. Washington, the celebrated negro educator, by Alfred H. Ulrich, a carpenter of 116 West Sixth street, has attracted national attention owing to the prominence of the negro educator, and although not seriously hurt, is forced to go about with his head tightly bandaged. When Dr. Washington appeared in the West Side court to testify against Ulrich the proceedings were brief. Attorney J. J. Moore, for the defendant, waived examination and gave bail for his appearance in special session. The charge was modified from malicious assault to simple assault. Ulrich will be tried in about two weeks.

The Book Von Moltke Read. The Chateau de Ferrières has a history as well as a proprietorial interest. It was the scene of the memorable interview between Bismarck and Jules Ferry, when the latter made his impassioned declaration about "not a stone of our fortresses, not an inch of our territory." Bismarck was the only speaker on the Prussian side. As far as he was concerned, the colloquy would have been ended in a few minutes. Ferry's special pleading lasted the best part of an hour. It all ended as we know.

Silent in a corner of the room there sat Moltke. Silent he remained all the while. He was reading, and he never took his eyes off his book. Felix Whitehurst was curious to know what book it was that had thus absorbed him. It was "Moltke's Chateau de Ferrières"—Fall Mail Gazette.

TUBERS FAVORITES OVER DE NERI MEN.

Philadelphia Sporting Writers Admit Superiority of Central Leaguers

OUT LOOK FOR CLOSE GAMES

Series for the World's Championship
Will Start in Philadelphia on Saturday Night—Sears a Big Factor for Tubers.

The world's series contest between the McKeesport team of the Central league and the Do Neri quintet of the Eastern aggregation will open in Philadelphia Saturday night to determine the professional basketball championship. The McKeesport team is a slight favorite in the east and will be odds on favorites in this section by the time the games come to Pittsburgh unless there is unexpected strength shown by Do Neri. The first games in Pittsburgh will be played at Duquesne Garden on April 11 and 12. The series open in Philadelphia on next Saturday.

Both teams will play on neutral floors. The Philadelphia games have been arranged at Philadelphia Jack O'Brien's American Athletic Club while McKeesport will play in Duquesne Garden for its home games. Central league fans will strongly back the McKeesport team. The Tubers can play basketball and it will make the Do Neri outfit go home. The Tubers have one big advantage when they are playing basketball they are doing nothing else.

The big advantage the Tubers have and it is that which materially helps them win two games in succession, is the fact they have played together for a number of years past. No team in the Central league has developed more consistent teamwork. While all the Tubers are stars none outshines the others to such an extent that his work seems particularly brilliant. Take for instance, O'Donnell, for instance, O'Donnell is probably the greatest forward playing basketball today, yet he does not shine as does Hough of South Side, Kummer of Connellsville or Fogarty of Johnstown. The reason lies in the team work that has been developed. Bel- dom do the Tubers try long shots. They pass the ball to whoever plays nearest the basket and goal is almost certain to result.

The Do Neri team is clearly the best aggregation in the Eastern league and it has quite a number of stars. Cowdy is one of these. He leads the Eastern league in assists, which are not figured in the Central league. Reilly and Brooks are the Do Neri forwards and eastern papers claim the McKeesport guards will be kept busy following him. On the other hand, McKeesport fans will have to be shown that one of these players will not be in a tag game when Andy Sears gets under way. Cowdy plays a floor game, as does Kummer, is the standard Klunk type type. Kummer has a reputation for dribbling that is well known throughout the Eastern league circuit.

Mike Wilson is declared to be a better floor man than Getzinger, but is not as good on the jump. However, if Getzinger outshines Wilson on the jump he will not have much of an opportunity to get down the floor, at least with Do Neri in possession of the ball. Duggie and O'Donnell have shown the Central league centers they can get the tap over when Getzinger is outjumped.

In any event the series should prove a big boost for basketball, and an added incentive for Connellsville to get in the running. McKeesport is gaining lots of beneficial advertising out of the series and it behooves the Coker management to make a strong bid for the honors next year.

There is every indication that the capacity of Duquesne Garden will be taxed to its utmost when the games are played in Pittsburgh. Connellsville is sure to send a big delegation. Unfortunates are interested to some extent and Johnstown and South Side can be counted on strong. McKeesport, of course, will turn out en masse.

Connellsville fans will pull strong for Unfortunates to land the seventh game, if it has to be played. It is not believed that the series will be prolonged to that extent. McKeesport, on form, should have little difficulty annexing four games out of five or six, but one can never tell just what will happen in basketball.

Manager McGraw will not allow Charley Mathewson to pitch any of the exhibition games this spring.

Geoff Ferguson says that the Boston Nationals gave him a raw deal and that he has quit the game for good.

Mayor Gaynor of New York will toss out the first ball when the Giants open the season at the Polo Grounds on April 12.

It is said Zimmerman can keep up the good work he is doing in practice games, he will be a spangled beauty in Brooklyn this season.

Connie Mack has secured three of the St. Mary's (Calif.) College boys. They are Lynch, left fielder; Wallace, third baseman; and Fitzsimmons, shortstop.

George Van Haltren, the former Giant, is seeking a job as umpire in one of the western leagues. "Rip" was an indicator man in the Coast League last season.

"Kid" Elberfeld, the Washington infielder, says that he intends to raise earnings when his ball playing days are over. It wasn't earnings that he used to raise with the umpires.

The Baltimore Orioles are likely to have their name changed to "Giants." The average weight of Jack Dunn's team is 187 pounds per man, and twelve men are more than six feet tall.

The Pirates were working in the ball park at Hot Springs like horses when Horan Wagner came up to the gate. Horan look on him at his command, said "Good Night," and then went dashing.

When "Lefty" Craig, the Tri-State League pitcher, was sold to Indianapolis, he almost cried. He said he knew a trip on the ocean would make him sick and that he did not care to mingle with Indians.

Bob Wicker, a former Chicago Cub, has signed with the Louisville American Association team.

Manager Bill Dahlen of the Brooklyn team, has malaria and is not able to do much work on the ball field.

Charlie Swain, the Vancouver outfielder, now with Washington, says that he is making his first visit east of the Rocky mountains.

The Western Canada League has been reorganized with teams in the following cities: Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Moose Jaw, Regina and Brandon.

With the Boxers.

Franklin Burns, the Oakland, Calif., lightweight, is the latest sensation on the Pacific Coast.

In a little more than a year, "One Round" Hogan has had 39 battles in 21 of which he earned knockouts.

"When Langford meets Mevey he is going right in to knock out the Californian-Parisian, and then for the champion, Jack Johnson," writes Manager Joe Woodman.

Character in Handwriting.

I showed a professor of calligraphy a letter I had received. He took a very unfavorable view of the handwriting. It was the handwriting, he told me, of a man without feeling, without genius, without feeling. "And, now, sir," I said, "will you look at the signature?" The letter was written by Lord Macaulay—Arnold's "Three Corners Essays."

PROFESSOR CARL VICTOR

the originator of the Victor System and Respiratory Specialist, is registered at the Arlington Hotel. Professor Victor took the prize as the "Perfect Man" at the St. Louis Fair and was the model from which the statues there shown were made. The Professor's treatment consists of human vibrations and personal magnetism. It abolishes all medicinal treatment and brings the human system no matter how far gone by nervous tension, overwork or worry back to its normal state. No claim is made that is not substantiated by thousands of unsolicited testimonials. Professor Victor has letters of recommendation from all of the parties who have taken the course. His treatment is a sure cure for all stomach troubles, constipation and indigestion. No claim is made that is not substantiated by thousands of unsolicited testimonials. No claim is made that is not substantiated by thousands of unsolicited testimonials. No claim is made that is not substantiated by thousands of unsolicited testimonials.

Prof. Victor says: "No patron of ours will need to digest his food with poison nor assist nature with a dose of physic. We will give you an appetite and a strong stomach to take care of it; a digestive system that will fill your veins with rich blood; a strong heart that will purify your blood; a liver that will work as nature designed it should; a set of nerves that will keep you up to the standard of physical and mental energy. We will increase your nerve force and capacity for mental labor, making your daily work a pleasure. You will sleep as man ought to sleep. You will start the day as a mental worker, man who would get the best of which his brain is capable. We can promise you all of this because it is common sense, rational and just as logical as that study improves the intellect."

A MINISTER'S TESTIMONIAL.
Dear Professor Victor:
I wish to thank you very sincerely for your course of treatment. They benefited me from the start. I work better, sleep better, eat better and life is a joy to me, and my people here tell me I am preaching much better. I cordially recommend your treatment to all who are living a strenuous nervous life because of its vitalizing benefits. These treatments do not exhaust as most physical courses do. They build the body, invigorate the mind, and inspire the vital powers of the mind. Someday all through you make body and soul work together in joyous harmony. I advise every poor preacher to pawn his overcoat and pay for the costs of your physical treatments.
Very respectfully yours,

It gives me great pleasure to recommend to my friends your treatment, which I intend to keep up at stated periods in order to keep myself from rusting. Thanking you for the attention you have given me, at different times during course of treatment and wishing you continued success, I beg to remain,
